

Attractive New Styles in Washable Suits, Skirts and Dresses

Plenty of them here to select from, and every one delightfully fresh and crisp. Prices make it possible to purchase these stunning garments at little cost.

Whether it is the Sport-Striped Wash Suits, Sport-Striped Coin Dots, or Plain White Skirts, or the dainty White or Colored Voile Dresses that you wish, we can show you a wonderfully attractive assortment.

Ask to see our White Net and Crepe de Chine Dresses.

New and Effective Styles in Waists

If you have not visited our Waist section recently, then there is a treat in store for you. We wish we could describe one-half the models on display.

Come in and see the values we are putting out on Voile Waists at from $1.00 to $3.50.

The Homer Fitts Company

BARRE DAILY TIMES

FRIDAY, MAY 18, 1917.

The Weather

Cloudy to night and Saturday; probably showers; gentle to moderate shifting winds.

TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's silk dress values. Be fitted to your corsets at Mrs. Shepard Co., Inc.

Macabee guards meet in K. of P. hall Saturday at 12:30 to enter parade.

Special sale of hats Saturday at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Carroll's, 70 Main street. C. A. Brown of Jefferson street left last night on a business trip to Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Fred York of Williamstown was among the business visitors in the city yesterday.

Woodville, N. H., business visitors in the city yesterday were John Sheldon and L. W. Willson.

The Nisatin club of Northfield has purchased a Regent piano for its club rooms of H. A. Gould.—adv.

All scouts of troop 5 meet at city park Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Edgar Greenland, scoutmaster.

"Germany from Within," the last of a series of wartime subjects at the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening at 7.

A. W. Hill of Springfield, Mass., arrived in the city yesterday to spend several days in the Barre granite belt on a business trip.

Members of Bright Star Rebekah lodge, No. 18, are requested to meet at Odd Fellows' hall Saturday at 12:30 o'clock to take part in the parade.

George Edwards, who has been employed on construction work at the farm in North Montpelier owned by Harry Daniels, returned to the city yesterday.

Ladies of the I. O. O. L. M. U., wishing to take part in the parade meet at the Knights of Columbus hall at 12:30 o'clock. Please wear white gloves.—adv.

Among the Burlington business visitors in the city yesterday and to-day were Messrs. Edward Lane, W. F. Maack, Clifford Andrews, William Benham and C. B. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander of Granville passed through the city yesterday while en route to Burlington, where Mr. Alexander took the examination to enter the United States navy.

Charles Elliot, who has been employed as candymaker at the Barre Candy Kitchen during the past month, moved his household goods yesterday from his former home in Montpelier to a Pearl street tenement.

John Walton of Bridgeport, Conn., arrived in the city yesterday to spend several days as the guest of friends on Washington street while on a vacation of two weeks from his duties in an ammunition factory.

Toothsome confections at Laws' candy store include the new "patriotic" edge at 10 cents the pound, and "sea foam," a sugared delicacy that is bound to tickle the palate, at 33 cents. Saturday specials as well as all of Laws' delicious candies are home made.

Ralph Martin of Boynton street received a painful injury yesterday while cranking an automobile. The handle flew back as Mr. Martin was spinning the crank and caught him in the hand, making an ugly cut over the back of his hand and along the third finger, necessitating several stitches to be taken by a physician in order to close up the wound.

News has been received here of the wedding in Derby Line Tuesday of Miss Jennie Ann Audinwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Audinwood of that village, and Elbert B. Colburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Colburn of Montpelier.

Miss Glenn Reed of Montpelier and Charles E. Audinwood, a brother of the bride, attended the couple. The bride is favorably known in Barre, where she attended Goddard seminary after graduating from the high school in Derby, completing a course in the local institution in 1915. Later she attended a commercial college in Lowell, Mass. Her husband is associated with the firm of Colburn & Fallon at the capital and after a wedding trip they are to reside in Montpelier.

The little lady in silvery negligee, who has been poised on the topmost pedestal of the fountain in City park since time out of mind, is shivering in the wind again, but her work is done. Yesterday employees of the water department, after releasing the fountain Jane from her winter raglan of wood and burlap discovered that the condition of the piping in the fountain will not permit her to share a part in the mock shower that prevails when the water is turned on full blast.

As a matter of sentiment the park commissioners are going to leave her on guard duty, but never again, according to the department specialist, will she be able to blow myriads of tiny water drops skyward through a silver horn. Much is to be done before the fountain is in running order, but the water will be turned on to-morrow and repairs will be made later. Supt. F. O. Lee of the water department is getting ready to make a number of readjustments to the Herman Lee Ensign memorial fountain for animals. During the winter asbestos used in wrapping a part of the piping fell away and obstructed the water ducts.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

Union Dry Goods Company

OUR MAY SALE OF UNDERMUSLINS CLOSSES SATURDAY NIGHT

Have you taken advantage of the special prices we are quoting? If not, we would urge you to come to-day if possible. The values cannot possibly be equalled later.

NIGHT ROBES made of Fine Nainsook and Cotton, in a large assortment of pretty styles. See the special assortment of Gowns in this sale at, each 55c

Regular 79c to 89c values, Sale Price, each 69c

Regular $1.00 to $1.25 values, Sale Price, each 89c

Regular $1.50 values, Sale Price, each $1.39

Regular $1.98, $2.25, $2.50, $2.98 values, each $1.79, $1.98, $2.25, $2.65

WHITE SKIRTS—Extraordinary values, with deep hamburg and lace flounces. One special assortment in this sale at, each 55c

Regular 79c to 89c values, Sale Price, each 69c

Regular $1.00 to $1.25 values, Sale Price, each 89c

Regular $1.50 values, each $1.39

ALL HIGH-GRADE SKIRTS IN THIS SALE at special reduction.

CHEMISES—Unusually pretty styles and splendid values. One lot, regularly sold at $1.00, Sale Price, each 89c

SPECIAL SALE PRICES THIS WEEK ON HAMBURG EDGINGS AND LACES.

THE UNION DRY GOODS COMPANY

One Dollar's Worth 90c After 3 p. m. Saturday, for - -

As a special inducement, to prove to you that we carry a most complete line of Hardware, Household Necessities and Sporting Goods, we are going to give you a dollar's worth of trade for ninety cents, or in other words, ten per cent discount on all cash sales after 3 p. m. Saturday only.

This applies to the following list—a list of standard, guaranteed articles, used every day. Read it over, then come to our store Saturday after 3 p. m. and save money.

Kitchen Supplies

COPPER TEA KETTLES, COPPER TEA POTS, COPPER COFFEE POTS

Laundry Supplies

WASH BOILERS, both copper and tin; WRINGERS, famous Horseshoe brand; CLOTHES HORSES, CLOTHES BASKETS, RUB BOARDS, WASH BENCHES and COMBINATION BENCH and WRINGER

Aluminum Ware

INCLUDING A FULL LINE OF THE BEST

All Sporting Goods

FISHING TACKLE, GOLF SUPPLIES, TENNIS SUPPLIES, BASE BALL GOODS

CHILDREN'S CARTS, REFRIGERATORS, OIL STOVES and OVENS

Remember, this is for Saturday afternoon and evening only, and for cash.

"A Visit to Our Store Will Convince"

The N. D. Phelps Company

136 North Main Street Barre, Vt. Telephone 29

TALK OF THE TOWN

See Abbott's special Saturday bargains. Wanted, to-night, at 8 o'clock, a good crowd to see "Greenbird."—adv.

Members of Hiawatha lodge are requested to meet at the hall Saturday at 12:15 prompt for the purpose of taking part in the parade. Let every member make an effort to be present. All visiting brothers welcome.

TALK OF THE TOWN

"Greenbird," a three-act comedy, Episcopal vestry, to-night.—adv.

Napoleon Baker of Plainfield visited friends in the city yesterday and to-day. Children's tennis exordials at Shea's, sizes to 11, black, brown, white, 55c pair. Regular meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America this (Friday) evening at 7 o'clock.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Mrs. E. J. Ruddy of Plainfield is visiting at the home of her parents on West Patterson street.

Thirty-five styles of women's white canvas shoes. All styles at Shea's Saturday $1.35 a pair. Supt. George J. Seager of the Barre Town schools, in looking about for teachers for next year, visited the teacher training class of Spaulding high school yesterday.

Spaulding high school will play the second game of the week to-morrow afternoon at Lincoln campus when the team lines up against the Burlington high school nine.

An important announcement by the ticket committee of the Montpelier Choral society was made Tuesday evening to the effect that the advance ticket exchange would take place at Cummings & Lewis' drug store, Barre, beginning June 2, detailed information covering the exchange to be furnished later. Patrons in Barre should communicate with Mrs. W. M. Holden (phone 533-W), if they desire to secure advance tickets, which have the first choice of seats.

Among the guests arriving at Hotel Barre last night and this morning were the following people: Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Davis, G. F. Ames and John Holbrook of Derby Line, Harry H. Lane of Springfield, M. Sowles of Roxbury, R. A. Field of Fitchburg, Mass., Charles H. Farnham of Springfield, H. G. Miller and N. L. Crane of Batavia, N. Y., F. H. Hunt, D. O. Sprague, Miss Dewey, Miss Tyler, Miss Whittemore, H. T. Way of Burlington, H. G. Kennedy of St. Albans, E. H. Loveland of Randolph, W. G. Howley of Newport, F. L. Abbott of Bellows Falls, H. Holmes of St. Albans, J. W. Potts and H. A. D. Leggett of Burlington.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few years ago. Their father, the late Albert Cayhue, served in the Spanish-American war as did their uncle, John J. Cayhue of Barre. Both young men were employed in Holyoke, Mass., after leaving this city.

A good-sized army of crop raisers has been enlisted in the public schools of Barre, no less than 500 children of both sexes and of all ages having made a start toward planting and tending a garden. Land has been secured for all of them, many land owners donating the use of plots of ground for the purpose; and the children are entering upon the work with great enthusiasm. Wednesday night F. H. Abbott, county agricultural agent, addressed a large company of children at the high school auditorium, telling them in plain terms just what they ought to do in securing big crops of produce.

Miss Blanche J. Tilden, who also is to help the children in the campaign for crop raising, spoke briefly at the same meeting. The children listened intently and appeared to lay their plans according to the advice given them by the speakers.

Two former Barre boys, Roy Cayhue and Arthur Cayhue, are living up to family traditions by offering their services to Uncle Sam at the first appearance of war clouds on the horizon. The former has enlisted in the navy and Arthur Cayhue, his younger brother, is enrolled in the 25th United States infantry. The boys are grandsons of Mrs. L. M. Frenier and Mrs. Jesse Cayhue of this city and of the late Jesse Cayhue, a veteran of the Civil war, whose death occurred in Barre a few